

Buffalo Architectural Casting

Product Guide

Buffalo Architectural Casting has been restoring important pieces of architecture since 1989, when Leonid Lysy, a sculptor and designer from Russia, and Gary Bolles, historic plaster restoration expert began collaborating on large scale ornamental and sculptural historic restoration projects.

Today, these masters of their trades bring you a collection of fireplace mantels and cast pieces for the home, including an extensive portfolio of custom works for estates and high-end decorators, looking to make an historic statement in traditional and contemporary homes, or collaborate to create stunning, clean, modern works.

Custom Work

Our mantels can be enhanced with the addition of elements such as overmantels, hearths, fillers and tiles.

Hearths and fillers add to mantel with both functionality and appeal, by adding height or fitting to a firebox.

Overmantels are designed per job, ensuring a unique piece that compliments your specific mantel and needs.

An entirely unique product created for your indoor space. Bring in drawings, images, or deas and we'll create a piece just for you.

Range Hoods

Our line of travertine range hoods are cast as one piece, making them light weight and easy to install. These are fire resistant and replicate true travertine without the weight of traditional stone. With several hood, frieze, and corbel styles available, every hood can be customized for your size, color, and specific needs. Each design can also be produced in exterior materials to compliment an outdoor patio and grill space.
